

NCDR RESEARCH

MENTORSHIP PROGRAM

The ACC has established a mentorship program to provide investigators with the opportunity to submit the best research proposal and ensure an equal opportunity for funding. Early career investigators are paired with senior authors to learn from an expert as they navigate the drafting, submission & approval throughout the research proposal, abstract and manuscript phases.

- Early career investigators: currently a fellow-in-training or within five years out of completing their fellowship
- Senior author: more than five years out of fellowship

This program hopes to engage more members in the NCDR to submit well written and thorough research proposals and create unique research opportunities to engage collaboration between early career and established members.
